Publication Purpose

The Journal of Research Practice (JRP) aims to develop our understanding of research as a type of practice, and assist both research practitioners and research theorists to share their experiences with, and ideas about, research so as to help readers in improving their research practice.

Journal of Research Practice
ISSN 1712 851X

Published Online by Athabasca University Press,
Edmonton, Canada

Publication Years
Since 2005

Editors

Professor D. P. Dash Professor Werner Ulrich

Focus Areas

Research Applications Research Spaces Research Education Research Experiences Research Philosophy Research on Research

Financial Model
Free to readers
Free to authors
Accepts sponsorships

Indexing

and several specialised bibliographic databases

Focus Areas

The journal focuses on generic aspects of research practice that would be of interest to researchers in various fields. The journal's six specific Focus Areas are listed in the left-hand column (for details, see JRP Concept Hierarchy in the journal site, where the Focus Areas are defined in terms of Core Questions and Subject Areas).

JRP articles trigger fresh thinking about research practice in multiple fields.

Special Issues Published

2015 | Experiential Knowledge, Expertise, and Connoisseurship

2014 | Giving Back in Field Research

2013 | Research Assistantships

2012 New Approaches to Psychodynamic Research

2011 On Reflecting and Making in Artistic Research Practice

2010 | Research Practice in Art and Design

2010 | Autoethnography as Research Practice

2007 On Beyond Interdisciplinarity

2007 | Students' Reflections on Doing Research

2005 | Natural Resource Management in Australia

Article Categories & Peer Review

Submissions are solicited under the following peer-reviewed article categories:

- (a) Main Article—Full-length articles relating to our publication focus
- (b) Research Design—Critical discussions on research design
- (c) Provocative Idea—Fresh ideas on addressing research challenges
- (d) Review—Critical reflections on published material (books, journals, etc.)
- (e) Viewpoints and Discussion—Personal viewpoints on material published in this journal (or elsewhere)

The journal's peer-review process relies on an experienced community of reviewers drawn in part from the JRP Forum. The peer-review process normally takes 4-6 weeks. Potential authors can find more information in the journal website: Information for Authors.

Authors

To submit your article, first Register your interest online.

Sponsors

The journal welcomes both institutional and personal sponsorships.

We invite research-oriented institutions to become Institutional Sponsors by pledging USD 100–1,000 per annum, for a term of 3 years. We also welcome all users of this journal to become Personal Sponsors by pledging USD 50–200 per annum, for a term of 3 years.